Yesterday Big Day at Tabernacle Mass Meeting Brings Big Crowd

Citizens Mass Meeting at Tabernacle Yesterday Was Largely Attended

Of course we do not want war with Mexico. In fact, it wouldn't be a war. Oklahoman's eighty thousand troops would be all that are needed, to clean out that nest of anarchists, I. W. W.'s, Bolsheviks and bandits, and they could do the job in ninety days, according to the opinion of General Roy Hoffman, expressed at a mass meeting at the big tabernacle yesterday afternoon, attended by over a thousand citizens of Ada and Pontotoc county.

Privately General Hoffman assured his friends that he would be glad to undertake the job; and in those words he expressed the heartfelt sentiments of a great majority of Oklahomans.

The mass meeting was called by a committee of leading citizens, with the indorsement of the Chamber of Commerce, and the Ministerial Alliance, to express their indignation of the community over the murder of John W. Correll, an Oklahoma pioneer, by a gang of Mexicans led by a German named Tampico on June 16. The gang also tried to murder Correll's son, aged 16 years, and assaulted Mrs. Correll, aged 64, with the most revolting accompaniments, and also robbed the house and attacked other Americans in the neighborhood on the same day.

When Governor J. B. A. Robertson heard of the meeting he sent his friend and former law partner, General Hoffman, who commanded Oklahoma's troops on the Mexican border and who was a brigadier-general in the great war and who, next to the Governor, is the most popular man in the state, to represent him and to read a few lines he had sent to the president, the secretary of state and the members of the Oklahoma delegation in congress demanding immediate investigation, punishment of the murderers and reparation for the widow. Governor Robertson's communication is decidedly the most vigorous state document that has been penned in many a day. Even congress should have no difficulty in understanding what he means without the aid of an interpreter. It is worth quoting in full.

The Governor's Letter.
The following is the text of the telegram sent the President of the United States, the secretary of state and every member of the Oklahoma delegation in Congress, yesterday morning, in the matter of the murder of John Correll and the inhuman treatment accorded the Correll family in Mexico on June 16th last:
Oklahoma City, Oklahoma,
July 13, 1919.

Hon. Robert L. Owen, Senator,
Hon. T. P. Gore, Senator,
Hon. W. W. Hastings, M. C.,
Hon. E. B. Howard, M. C.,
Hon. C. D. Carter, M. C.,
Hon. Tom D. McKeown, M. C.,
Hon. Joe B. Thompson, M. C.,
Hon. Scott Ferris, M. C.,
Hon. Jim McClintic, M. C.,
Hon. Dick T. Morgan, M. C.,
Washington, D. C.

I am this day forwarding the following telegram to the President and Secretary of State:
"Influenced by statements in the daily papers of this country, to the effect that conditions in Mexico were normal and that life and property were safe, John W. Correll and his wife and sixteen year old son, Joe, left Pontotoc County, this state, last November and settled near Colonia, a small town 25 miles northwest of Tampico, Mexico, where he contracted to purchase a tract of land and upon which he continued to reside until his death which occurred June sixteenth, last."
"On June 16, while peacefully engaged in developing the tract of land which he had purchased and upon which he expected to make his home, a large party of Mexicans, led by a man reputed to be a German who wore an American Captain's uniform, all heavily armed, rode up to the Correll house, took possession of same, stole quantities of food, clothing and other articles, destroyed a large amount more, cruelly assaulted Mrs. Correll, who is a woman sixty-five years of age, murdered her husband, who attempted to defend her and attempted to murder the son, but failed on account of poor marksmanship."
"Complaint was made by Mrs.

Correll to the authorities but no investigation was had and no one was punished and she and her son were forced to flee the country and have returned to this state."
"This unprovoked and unwarranted assault is but one of thousands that have occurred in the Republic of Mexico against American citizens during the past few years and no reparation has ever been made for the same."
"Oklahoma has a large number of Mexicans who enjoy the fullest protection of our laws and who, on the slightest pretext, and frequently on inspired propaganda, make complaint to their Ambassador at Washington. During my short incumbency as Governor, I have conducted not less than three rigid investigations on complaints emanating from the Mexican Ambassador at Washington, with result that none of the complaints were true; all of them were feigned and trumped up and a part of a systematic propaganda which is being carried on by some one unknown to me. There has not been a single instance of injustice meted out to any Mexican in this state to my knowledge and yet our citizens are not only robbed of their property but cruelly murdered and otherwise mistreated and no satisfaction has been exacted by the State or any other Department of our Government. Our people have come to believe that American citizenship and the American flag counts for nothing in the Republic of Mexico and I am determined that this condition shall cease."

"I hereby demand a most thorough, exhaustive and immediate investigation of the murder of John W. Correll and the abuse and mistreatment of his wife and son, as above indicated. The time for evasion on the part of Mexican officials and the failure of that Government to protect citizens of other countries, who are legally and peaceably pursuing their avocations, has gone by and our citizens will not be satisfied with anything but a most searching and complete investigation, together with proper punishment of these murderers and rapists. As Governor of this State, I most emphatically insist that the time has come when these wrongs must be righted and the prevailing anarchy in Mexico terminated."

"I am sending a copy of this telegram to each of our delegates in Congress with the request that they use their utmost endeavors to bring about reparation of this wholly inexcusable and unwarranted crime."
"With great respect, I am obediently yours,
"J. B. A. ROBERTSON,
Governor."

I insist that you join immediately with the other members of the delegation in demanding full reparation for this cruel and unnecessary murder.
Respectfully,
J. B. A. ROBERTSON,
Governor.

Neither did the audience have any difficulty in understanding General Hoffman's point of view when, after fulfilling the governor's commission, he lingered on the platform to say a few words in his own behalf. He was vigorously applauded when he said:

General Hoffman Said:
"I have some personal grievances against Mexico myself. One member of my immediate family was killed in Mexico in 1914, in much the manner as was Mr. Correll."
"I believe the only language the Mexican will ever understand is the language of shrapnel and gun powder, and we are nearing the time when AMERICAN citizenship should be sacred and that country pacified."
"It has gotten to a point where conditions in Mexico are intolerable. I don't think 540 lives is anywhere near the number of American lives that have been taken down there in cold blood, during the last four years. There is no way of getting at the actual number."
"Mexico has not been our friend for years. It is the common experience of every soldier, and those along the border, that Mexico has nothing but contempt for the United States."
"The Carranza government has proved itself utterly incompetent."

CLASS EXPRESSES THANKS TO TEACHER

The class studying grammar at the Normal and reciting at 2:30 p. m., on Friday evening presented their teacher with a token of their appreciation of the good work and kindness manifested by him during the hot summer months. The teacher is Mr. Downing and the presentation speech was made by Mr. W. T. Ethridge of Centrahoma, who said in part:

"Mr. Downing, for the reason that some of the class cannot remain to the close of the term and all wish to be present, we as a class unbroken have selected this day to express to you our sincere thanks and our appreciation for the cheerful, lively and effective way you have led us on through this usually dull subject."

We appreciate beyond expression the interest you have manifested in each individually and toward the class collectively.

In token of this fact we wish to give you a present which we hope will remind you of the love and esteem of this class when we shall have separated to our different places of abode."

The present given to Mr. Downing was a beautiful gold pencil holder.

U. S. to Resume Trade Relations With Germany

WASHINGTON, July 14.—Trade between the United States and Germany will be resumed immediately, Acting Secretary Polk of the state department announced Friday. Secretary Polk made it clear that resumption of trade relations with Germany does not abrogate the trading with the enemy act, nor is it to be taken as meaning that the state of war is at an end.

Mr. Polk said blanket licenses would be issued, but that dyes, chemicals and potash would be excepted. Control over trading in these commodities would be exercised by the reparation commission under the terms of the peace treaty. A formal announcement regarding resumption of trade relations was promised within 48 hours.

All arrangements for removing restrictions on trading with Germany have been completed so far as the American government is concerned, Vance McCormick, chairman of the war trade board, said. Action by the supreme economic council, in session at Paris, in lifting the blockade, alone is awaited, Mr. McCormick added.

Mr. McCormick, who returned from Paris with President Wilson, said there would be virtually complete freedom of trade, subject to the limit of credits which Germany might be able to establish.

TO BE NO MORE DAYS OF WATCHFUL WAITING

WASHINGTON, July 14.—Information obtained from the state department today justifies the assertion that the policy of "watchful waiting" with respect to Mexico is about to end.

The United States will no longer permit Mexico in her own way and in her own time to take such action as will effectively safeguard the lives and property of other nationals in Mexico. The Mexican government has been told that it will be expected to take such steps as may be necessary to guarantee that result and take them without any unnecessary delay.

The strong desire of the British and French to compel Mexico to safeguard the lives and property of foreigners in that country is coincident with the pressure being exerted on the state department and congress by the Association For the Preservation of American Rights in Mexico.

A dollar in the bank is worth two in your mind.

FIGHT ON LEAGUE IN SENATE TODAY

FOREIGN RELATIONS COMMITTEE BEGIN CONSIDERATION OF THE DOCUMENT IN SENATE TODAY.

By the Associated Press
WASHINGTON, July 14.—After weeks of preliminary discussion and maneuvering, the actual fight over reserved ratification of the peace treaty, with the league of nations covenant, begins today in the U. S. senate. The foreign relations committee, to which the treaty was referred after its presentation by the president Thursday, began consideration of the document at a session which may bring action on collateral issues, including the question as to whether the president will be invited to appear before the committee to be questioned.

THE GEORGE WASHINGTON TO BE "BABY'S" SHIP

NEW YORK, July 14.—The presidential ship George Washington, which sails back to France next week, has been fitted up as a nursery to take care of the "war babies" returning on that vessel. Two hundred "war babies" are scheduled to sail on the transport on her next trip from France to this country and at the request of Dr. G. A. Ricker, the ship's surgeon, the American Red Cross has provided the ship with baby food, milk, clothing and other prerequisites of infantile comfort.

769 Wells Going Down; 480 Rigs in Oklahoma Fields

Tulsa, Okla., July 14.—There are in the different oil fields of Oklahoma, a total of 796 drilling wells and 480 rigs and locations. These figures apply to all the districts of Oklahoma except the shallow drilling now in progress in Nowata and Bartlesville, and Roger county, etc., and the various wild cats in western Oklahoma. Osage county has forged ahead of the list in respect to greatest development. Of the above total that county has 182 wells drilling and 152 rigs and locations within its boundaries.

MICKIE SAYS

"IS THIS MR. TIEWAD?—THIS IS MICKIE. SAY, MR. TIEWAD, EF YA GOTTA BORROW THE PAPER SOMEWHERE, I WISH YAD COME ROUND TA TH' OFFICE 'N DO IT, 'CAUSE WE DONT LIKE TA HAVE OUR REGULAR SUBSCRIBERS BOTHERED! THANK YA - O'B'Y!"

Tuesday partly cloudy is the prospect the weather man has for tomorrow.

FARMER KILLS TWO; THEN SHOOTS HIMSELF

HOLDENVILLE, Okla., July 14.—Dock Chronister, a farmer living two miles northwest of Calvin this county, late Friday shot to death George Johnson and Ed Crandall, neighbors, then walked a half mile from the scene of the double killing sat down on a log and turned the gun on himself, sending a bullet through his head, according to word reaching the county seat today.

The motive behind the triple tragedy has not been determined. One rumor is that Chronister wanted the two men to assist him in dynamiting a dipping vat and that, when they refused, he shot them. Another rumor is that Chronister had become demented and had listed several others of his neighbors for similar fate.

Chronister was a brother-in-law of Crandall. Some living in that vicinity seem to think that bad feeling, because of family differences, has existed between these men for several years.

Gompers Fights Effort to Take Hand in Mexico

NEW YORK, July 14.—Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, likened bolshevism with autocracy and force, declared against any movement looking toward war with Mexico, and expressed belief that there will be German delegates at the Amsterdam congress, in a statement made Friday in which he announced the fraternal delegates to the congress. The delegates will be Mr. Samuel Gompers, Daniel G. Tobin, treasurer of the American Federation of Labor, and J. J. Haynes, president of the Amalgamated Sheet Metal Workers International Alliance. Mr. Gompers said in part:

"The Amsterdam congress will be held for the purpose of forming a new international trade union movement or international federation of labor."

Asked if Germany will be represented by delegates he replied:

"More than likely there will be German delegates."
"I would like to say something regarding the Mexican situation. To my mind it would be the gravest wrong which could be inflicted upon the people of the United States as well as upon the people of Mexico if the jingo spirit which now seems to be in the course of manufacture should drive us into anything like a conflict with the Mexican people."

RAILWAY CONVENTION COMING TO ADA

That Ada is becoming a convention city is evidenced by what the Ada representatives of the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks did at the State Convention yesterday in Oklahoma City.

Yesterday's meeting was the first state meeting of this brotherhood. About 150 delegates were present. The selection of a place for the next regular convention which comes in October was taken up. Several cities undertook to get the convention, among them Ada, Sapulpa, Henryetta and Shawnee. Ada won the convention on the first ballot by a good margin.

The delegates from our city are to be congratulated on their success in getting the convention and the visitors when they come will be entertained in such manner as will prove they made no mistake in coming here. It is expected that four hundred delegates will attend when the convention meets here in October.

Ham-Ramsay Revival Is Growing In Interest; Great Meetings at Week End

Interest and enthusiasm are the only words that will adequately express the growing and ever-increasing interest in the big Ham-Ramsay revival which has been in progress at the tabernacle here since last Thursday evening.

It was a great service Saturday night, notwithstanding the fact that it was the busy night for business men and the town open until a late hour. The text was taken from the ninth chapter of Mark and the speaker illuminated in a most masterful manner the power of Jesus Christ to cast out devils and cleanse men from sin.

He caught the stars and had them swinging through celestial paths. Then he picked up a tiny snowflake and displayed it, patterned in myriad variety. In the leaves of the trees he found convolutions never duplicated season on season. Like the dazzling interchange of colors on the kaleidoscope he flashed illustrations from the arts and the sciences. He called for the pianist to sound notes on the piano and commented on the mathematical perfection in note vibrations. Then he delved into history, talked about cloth textures, embalming, the purity of the Jews, gold fillings in the teeth of mummies in Egyptian tombs, lost arts, buried canals, engineering monstrosities.

Following a half hour of such illustrations, shot out with the rapidity of a sailing gun, he stopped to catch breath and exclaimed:
"Why, the only thing we are up-to-date in is conceit!"
Pictures followed each other as clear in detail as though printed on a screen by the light of a moving picture arc. They were all pictures of wonderment and marvel, magnificent, impressive, overwhelming. The evangelist's hearers were swept off their feet and everyone agreed with the brilliant orator-evangelist when he cried in conclusion:

"God and nothing but God is back of all this."

HAM HAMMERINGS
"Even the heathen himself is without an excuse for his infidelity and unbelief."
"The Bible is the only book in the world as old as it is that is not filled with blunder."

"The trouble with religion today is God's reputation has been injured by so many failures."
"It's very easy for a man to predict a thing which has already been predicted by the Bible."

"Not a single prediction can be found in the Bible that has not been remarkably fulfilled."

"No scientist has ever made a discovery that added anything to or took anything away from the Bible."

"Failures do not honor God, they reflect upon him. Failures, however, are our own, they are not God's."

"Beating the air, rearing, fighting and foaming at the mouth won't cast out devils. It takes more than that."

"Every single detail concerning the destruction of Jerusalem was prophesied 1,400 years before it happened."

"If we can start into this meeting knowing that our power is in God, we will be relieved of the humiliation of a failure."

"It's not so easy for sinners to believe, when they look around and see the way some of you hypocrites and professed Christians behave."

"The only answer to the infidelity of this day and this hour is to demonstrate to the people that Christ can do what we claim for him."

"You may import all the evangelists in the country into Ada, but devils will not be cast out unless the people of Ada do their Christian duty."

"There are people in this town who don't want to see a successful revival—the world is no more friendly to Christ today than it was the day he was crucified."

"If there had been one-tenth the money spent to evangelize the world as was spent to carry on the last great war, Prussianism could never have pipped the shell."

"No man who has made a practice of sinning will be saved."

A PICTURE OF THE "L. OF J." BOYS OF ADA

Here is a picture of the "L. of J." This organization has its beginning early in 1919. Soon after C. V. Dunn became minister of the First Christian church in Ada, he began to talk to some of the boys in one of the Sunday School classes about their duty to Christ, how to become Christians, and what it means to live the Christian life. These meetings were held at the church on Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings. At first only a few boys came, but the number began to grow, and Mr. Dunn widened the scope of his talks to take in such subjects as "The kind of books boys ought to read," "How to spend your money," etc.

It was not long until the boys wanted to be organized. After some discussion a name was chosen whose initials are "L. of J." The meaning of these letters is a secret with the boys. This is the only secret thing about it. The name and purpose of the organization are both religious, the purpose being to make the boys Christian citizens of the community and efficient workers in the church of Christ.

The "L. of J." now meets once a week, Monday evening from five to six o'clock. In these meetings a careful record of attendance is kept, and proper decorum is required of every boy. Talks are made by Mr. Dunn and others all with the purpose of developing the boys into the right kind of men. It is proposed to have talks made to the boys from time to time by lawyers, doctors and other professional men, and business men. When there is time, these meetings end with some exercises in calisthenics. The meetings open with scripture reading, prayer, and the salute; they end with prayer and the salute.

The boys have a fine "L. of J." banner which was unfortunately left out of the picture. This banner was made by one of the boys' mothers, and donated to the organization. This banner is of velvet with yellow borders. In the middle is a cross and the letters "L. of J." in yellow, making a very beautiful banner.

The boys take some kind of an outing once a month. These outings have usually taken the form of hikes, but the last one was a picnic outing at the lake.

The "L. of J." now has a membership of 49 and others are joining constantly. They are a fine bunch of boys, and Mr. Dunn is proud of them. A constitution is soon to be adopted. The organization is really in the process of development. Boys are taken in from eight to fourteen, those from ten to fourteen being active members, and those eight and nine being associate members. The only difference is that the associate members can not vote. The following regulations have thus far been adopted:

Resolutions Adopted by the L. of J.

1—I will not swear or use any other language I would not be willing to use in the presence of my parents or in the presence of Jesus himself.

2—I will treat every other boy in this organization or out of it as I would like to be treated.

3—I will read the Bible frequently and I will not forget to pray.

4—I will be honest and truthful at all times.

5—I will love and obey my parents, be kind to my friends, and treat all people with respect.

6—I will attend the meetings of this organization whenever I can and conduct myself properly in its meetings.

7—I will do whatever I can to serve my Master Jesus, whenever called upon to do so.

8—I will endeavor to do some one kindness every day.

9—I will attend Sunday school whenever possible, and, if I am a Christian, I will attend the worship of the church whenever I can.

10—I will abstain from the use of tobacco in all of its forms.

SCIENTISTS ROB GILA MONSTERS OF STING

A loud wail goes up from the Santa Fe New Mexican because, as it sadly suggests, all the things that once made the Southwest fearsome and thrilling are disappearing one by one, and soon the place will be no more wild and woolly than Fifth Avenue, New York. The immediate cause of the lament is the announcement by the University of Arizona, after long and painful research, that there has never been an authentic case of death resulting from the bite of the Gila monster. What a shame!

We know just how the New Mexican man feels, says the Literary Digest. Ever since our early youth when we read and were horribly fascinated by accounts of the deadly venom and ferocious ways of this reptile we had cherished the hope that some day we might have the pleasure of observing—from a safe distance—the creature pulling off a few stunts in its native haunts, particularly that interesting little one of expelling its poisonous breath with a vicious hiss and thereby causing the instant death and destruction of all plant and animal life within a wide circumference. But that's all over now.

Trust a scientific shark to take the thrill out of what has always been mysterious and awe-inspiring until science got to fooling with it. But there are many other things, also, it appears—many others—which once helped to add to the wildness and wooliness of the west, but which now, alas, are no more. The New Mexican man goes on to speak of them lugubriously as follows:

Skunk's Bite no Worse Than Cat's.

A short time ago they found out, or purported to find out, that the hydrophobia skunk's bite is no more dangerous than that of the common house or Thomas cat. The Axaloti, ajalote, wajalote, of guajalote, whose deadliness we once fondly cherished as one of our most popular and well known southwestern dangers, was eaten up in large numbers by the fish when they put trout in Stew-art's lake up in the Pecos country. Whereas we once proudly told the effete that the tarantula in this man's picturesque country could jump fifty feet and bite while he was still jumping, throwing the victim at once into fatal spasms, we are assured now that he can only crawl at a snail's pace and all you get from his nippers is a severe headache. We knew a foreman in an Albuquerque print shop only three years ago who had a six-inch centipede ramble all around his anatomy for half a day, to be safely removed without difficulty when the victim found that the occasional itching inside his trouser leg was due to something more than a sneaker-bite. The horny toad's peaceful and affectionate disposition and lack of offensive potentialities have become so well known that we can lie about him no more; the scorpion is becoming a harmless joke, and just the other day we saw a youngster hitching that shudderingly horrible, striped insect known as the child-of-the-earth, reputed to cause sudden death and as fatal as an adder, up to a paper wagon and hauling it docilely around.

We still have our old friend, the rattler, theme of a thousand hair-raising narratives, whose murderous rattle still makes both westerner and easterner jump sideways and vol-plane out of the way when he hears his ugly head; but who knows?

The Moki handle him with impunity and make a necklace out of him, and one of these days some killjoy scien-tist will step out and prove that the diamond-back, when you get right down to facts, is as harmless as a fishworm and that his reputation for frightfulness is founded on nothing more substantial than the pink-elephant dreams of a chronic souser.

It is an iconoclastic age in the southwest. And we hate to be forced to the puerile alternative of spinning yarns about the side-hill hog, the mazazza, the ornery-thorny-cus, the catawampus and the polymoly rincus. But there is practically nothing else left to brag about.

If Salome was pure, as alleged, she was deucedly indiscreet about it, and stage ladies continue to emulate the example.

Animals and Earthquakes.

One of the mysteries still unsolved is that of the sense by which the low animals become aware of the approach of earthquakes. Birds and rats become alarmed and try to escape. Super-sensitiveness to faint shocks scarcely gives satisfactory explanation, for modern seismographs are very sensitive.

Let a Want Ad get it for you.

The State Press

Muskogee Times-Democrat: It may be necessary to change some of the school text books of the state every five years, but we do not believe it is either necessary or common sense to change 65 per cent of them. At that, however, the change is less this year than it was five years ago.

The Thrifty Fool.

Drumright Derrick: An industrious and frugal workman had no confidence in banks. He made pretty good wages and saved every cent he could spare from basic living expenses. Year after year the sum grew until it amounted to the respectable total of $2,500. It would have been considerably more if he had kept his savings where they would bear interest, but he was content to forego the interest for the sake of absolute safety.

He kept the money in a belt, around his body. Some of it was in bills and some in gold. At first it was a comfort. Finally, one day, when the owner went to work, he left it in his room. When he returned, belt and money were gone. With them had gone all the hope of those frugal, laborious years.

It is an old story, though this particular instance is new. And it is strange how, even to this day, the delusion persists that a man himself can take better care of his money than a bank can for him.

There should be wider teaching and recognition of the fact that American banks, with the exception of the irresponsible "foreign" banks found in some cities, are the best and safest in the world. But it is not necessary even to trust banks, if anyone can surmount this provincial prejudice. Any man or woman can make savings absolutely safe by turning them into government registered bonds or registered war savings stamps and gain an income from them in addition to the security.

The Owen Campaign.

Oklahoman: Now that a permanent organization has been formed in Oklahoma to boost the movement for the nomination of Senator Owen there should be no slowing down until the national democratic convention has made its decision.

The Owen-for-president meeting held in Oklahoma City Thursday was well attended. Many prominent democrats from the various counties were present and the enthusiastic discussion of Senator Owen's candidacy indicates that the movement has been started in this state with sufficient impetus to carry it on successfully elsewhere. With the election of the present governor as permanent president of the Owen-for-president club and three former governors as vice presidents, other states are given a good idea of the strength of the Owen support in Oklahoma.

The movement to nominate Senator Owen for president has made a good start. If Owen's friends keep everlastingly at it, they can make the campaign a success.

Senator Gore on the League of Nations.

Dallas News: Senator Gore's statement of his objections to the Covenant of the League of Nations shows that the Republicans have not been without warrant for counting the Oklahoma Senator among its opponents. For the objections of Senator Gore are of such a fundamental nature that they can not be obviated without wrecking the project. That Senator Gore's attitude does not express the sentiments of the people of Oklahoma must be evident to those who read the articles appearing in The News a short time ago, written by a staff correspondent who made a canvass of the sentiment of that state.

Senator Gore would have Article 10 amended so as to be binding on the United States only with respect to nations of the Western Hemisphere, and yet not to a degree which would forbid such actions as might be countenanced by the Monroe Doctrine, which he would have recognized with more explicitness than it is. That change, if the News quite understands the import of Senator Gore's objection, would license such interventions in South and Central America by the United States as it might find reason or pretext for in the Monroe Doctrine and the latitudinous meanings which have been attributed to it.

Senator Gore also favors, to quote the dispatch of The News' correspondent, "an unequivocal stipulation that the United States reserves for itself the determination of purely domestic questions, such as immigration and racial equality, in place of allowing the league to determine whether a question is a domestic one." The contingencies against which these suggestions are presumably intended to be safeguards might be appreciable dangers if we could suppose that other nations are less jealous of their sovereignty than we are. But since we have the best of reasons for believing that the other great nations of the world are just as de-

BOLSHEVISM AND COOL HEADS.

In this day of swift events when strident voices constantly threaten to take the place of temperate reasoning, it is indeed a satisfaction to meet words of calm counsel and thoughtful wisdom. Such is the statement issued to the public by eleven prominent clergymen of New York City including such prominent names as Rev. Arthur C. McGiffert, president of Union Theological Seminary, Rev. Howard C. Robbins, dean of the Cathedral of St. John, the Divine, Rev. Charles R. Brown, dean of the Yale School of Religion, Rev. Henry Cloane Coffin, of the Madison Ave. Presbyterian Church, Rev. Wm. Austin Smith, editor of the Churchman and others.

Much has been said and written of the dangers of Bolshevism and a great hue and cry against the red menace has been raised. In some cases fear of these dangerous teachings has impelled men to take the law into their own hands and to indulge in acts of violence toward the preachers of radical doctrines. Against hysteria and lawlessness of this sort these clergymen take a firm stand. They deplore the spirit of violence, bitterness and unreason which is abroad, and its consequences they indicate in the following:

"Unhappily violence, recently employed in the name of patriotism has been allowed to go unpunished by the authorities, and has even been praised by leaders in government and in the press. In New York on May Day peaceful meetings were attacked. The Call building was raided, and innocent men and women suffered serious injuries. Many voices openly praised such treatment of 'The Reds.' But condonations of violence lead to contempt of law and strengthen those who counsel revolution."

To meet the situation they urge:

"(1) That all men and women of good will set themselves to influence public opinion through every available medium against lawless measures by whomsoever they may be employed.

"(2) That they resolve to see that fair hearings and just trials are given to men, irrespective of their political or economic opinions, so that it may be said that in America no man's case, be an I. W. W. or a Bolshevik or the most reactionary conservative, is prejudiced by an appeal to popular feeling; and in particular that they set themselves against the counsels of hate, whose effect upon the rising generation can be only to pile up future disaster for mankind.

"(3) Since, in the judgment of the Attorney General of the United States, existing laws against criminal terrorism are inadequate, and since free discussion is essential for the exposure of economic and political errors, that the attempt be abandoned to coerce minority opinion so long as it does not promote disorder, or to defeat social change by repressive legislation."

Of particular significance is the stand taken by these ministers against the coercion of minority opinion. Our laws are inadequate to deal with terrorism, and repressive legislation such as that introduced in the senate by Senator King of Utah, for example, will surely have the effect either of retarding normal progress or of driving criticism of existing institutions underground where it will grow dangerous and unhealthy. Senator King's measure, (Senate 1686) which has the backing of the Overman Committee, besides carrying over into peace time certain sections of the war-time Espionage law, also gives it into the power of every federal prosecutor and jury to determine whether any given criticism of the existing order is lawful or not. There is only one jury competent of determining questions of that sort. That is the jury of public opinion. The American people have had economic heresy preached to them eloquently many times before this. They have had the vision and the good sense to choose wisely. They will continue to do so, and in the long run they will resent attempts like that of Senator King to create an instrumentality to determine what doctrines are and are not too seductive for them to hear.

A Japanese firm in Hankow advertises, "Tailors promptly executed. Exceedingly moderate price." There is less excuse for the American advertiser who wants a "bright colored girl for window demonstration work."

"Pack my box with five dozen liquor jugs" is said to be the shortest sentence that contains all the letters of the English alphabet. After the 15th of January it is likely to lead to some very much longer sentences.

The Reds only made a slight miscalculation. They thought they were going to seize the United States; and the United States seized them.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Teacher of English Bible in the Moody
Bible Institute of Chicago.)

LESSON FOR JULY 20

THE LORD'S SUPPER.

LESSON TEXTS.—Matt. 26:26-30; 1 Cor. 11:23-26.
GOLDEN TEXT.—For as often as ye eat this bread, and drink this cup, ye do show the Lord's death till he come.—1 Cor. 11:26.

ADDITIONAL MATERIAL.—Mark 14:22-26; Luke 22:14-20; 1 Cor. 10:14-21.
PRIMARY TOPIC.—Remembering Jesus (Luke 22:19).

JUNIOR TOPIC.—The Lord's Supper reminds us of Jesus.
INTERMEDIATE TOPIC.—The meaning of the Lord's Supper.

SENIOR AND ADULT TOPIC.—Communion with Christ and with one another.

I. The Institution of the Lord's Supper (Matt. 26:26; 1 Cor. 11:23).

1. Time: It was on the night of the betrayal of Jesus, just after the betrayer had been announced.

2. The circumstances: In connection with the eating of the Passover. At the command of Jesus the disciples made ready the Passover, and while they were eating, Jesus took bread, blessed it and gave it to the disciples.

3. Elements: (1) The bread. This doubtless was the common bread of the Passover feast. (2) The cup. This cup consisted of the fruit of the vine.

II. The Significance of the Lord's Supper (Matt. 26:26-28; 1 Cor. 11:24-26).

Jesus took natural and literal elements and made them to be symbols of his own body and blood. Just as our bread and drink are assimilated into brain and brawn, becoming an integral part of our body, so by means of these symbols the communicant partakes of Christ. He becomes a part of us and we are in him. It is both a memorial and a prophecy.

1. A memorial of the Lord (Luke 22:19). When he went away he left the bread and the cup for the disciples by which to remember him. Those who love him will desire to keep sacred this memorial.

2. To show the Lord's sacrificial death (1 Cor. 11:26). He did not die as a hero or as an example of unselfish devotion, but as a substitutionary ransom. On the cross he made expiation for our sins.

3. It is a guaranty that our sins are forgiven (Rom. 4:25). When the believer partakes of these elements his faith is confirmed. "It is a signet of the Son of God attached to redemption."

4. Through them the believer received Christ (1 Cor. 10:16). He thereby participates in the body and blood of Christ, becoming a member of his body. Christ liveth in the believer (Gal. 2:20). The Holy Spirit communicates the life of Christ to believers, making them one body, joined together (Eph. 4:16). This union is illustrated by the figure of the human organism (1 Cor. 12:12-27): the vine and branches (John 15:1-8); the husband and wife (Eph. 5:25, 26); we are one bread and one body (1 Cor. 10:17).

5. A forward look to a completed redemption (1 Cor. 10:26). When faith is exercised in Christ, redemption begins, and its completion will take place at the coming of Jesus Christ (1 Thess. 4:16, 17). The bread and the cup constitute the keepsake of the Lord until he returns. These elements possess an immense psychological value both as a memorial and a prospect.

III. Qualifications for Participation in the Lord's Supper (1 Cor. 11:27-34).

1. A proper apprehension of its meaning (v. 27). Eating and drinking "unworthily" does not refer to the demeanor of the communicant, but to the failure of the communicant to grasp its meaning and importance. Therefore, to thoughtlessly engage in this service is to do it "unworthily." Only a regenerated person can discern the Lord's body (v. 29, cf. 2:14). Faith in the integrity of Christ's person and work is essential. Anyone who does not believe in the absolute deity of Christ and his vicarious atonement is an unworthy communicant.

2. Church membership (1 Cor. 11:18-22). The Lord's body is the church which is composed of regenerated men and women, united to Jesus Christ as head and to each other as members of that body by the Holy Spirit.

3. Orderly walk. The disorderly should be debarred from the Lord's table, examples of which are the following: (1) Immoral conduct (1 Cor. 5:1-13). It is perilous to the individual who is guilty of immorality to approach the Lord's table (v. 30). Sickness and death are oftentimes visited upon such. This explains why some are mysteriously taken away in death. (2) Heresy (Titus 3:10; John 4:2, 3). (3) Schismatics (Rom. 16:17). Those who are causing divisions in the church should be debarred.

Right at the Center.

Our habitual thoughts and actions determine our characters and they are made moment by moment. If at the center we are stayed on God the circumstances must be right.—Samuel Fallows.

Would You?

Would you remain always young, and would you carry all the joy and buoyancy of youth into your maturer years? Then have care concerning that one thing—how you live in your thought world.—Ralph Waldo Trine

ADA TAKES 6 ME 0 HOLDENVILLE

Ada added another number to her string of victories yesterday. The game was with Holdenville. The weather was fine and the boys made it interesting to the visitors and spectators. The score was 12 to 6.

The game yesterday was the fifth Ada has won this season out of a total of seven played. The teams the boys lost to were Allen and Atoka and they are strong enough today to defeat either of those teams. In fact there is hardly a better small-town team in Oklahoma than the Ada team as at present lined up.

The details of the game are given in the boxes below:

The Church-Goers.

If some men were to quote the well-known psalm they would have to say, I was glad to make excuses when they said to us, 'let us go into the house of the Lord.' The 'they' referring probably to the women of the house, or the church-going neighbors.—Exchange.

Household Suggestion.

A Los Angeles woman says now that men have been taught to cook and keep house in the army, they should go ahead and cook and keep house definitely, leaving the women free to reform the world. Will the women agree, then, not to bring guests home to dinner without first calling up to find out whether there is enough food in the house to feed them?

Let a Want Ad get it for you.

Wilson Told The Senate:

The treaty would be a scrap of paper without the league of nations.

He also demanded league and would brook no denial.

America's material aid to Europe will be indispensable in days to come.

If league of nations was rejected the world's heart would be broken.

America is friend of all nations.

America has just reached her majority as a world power.

America's isolation ended 20 years ago.

Moral leadership of the world is offered America; question is whether we accept or reject it.

America shall in truth show the way to the world.

The treaty squares with the fourteen points as well as with the practical needs of the situation.

It is not exactly the sort of treaty the U. S. would have written.

"We have sought no special reparation for ourselves but only the restoration of right and the assurance of liberty everywhere."

"America's fighting made victory certain."

"A league of free nations is a practical necessity."

Normal Notes

This has been the best term of the summer school yet known. The faculty members are all very proud of the work that has been done.

A number of the teachers withdrew from the school the past week-end to take up teaching in summer schools. More will go this week.

Miss Linneol Hilliard of Sulphur, former student of East Central, is here visiting her sister Miss Lottie, who is now a student at the school.

School will close for the summer term on the 26th of July, which is next Saturday week. It is expected lessons will be heard up to and including the last day.

The next regular picture show will be given on Thursday night this week instead of Friday night because of the musical program to be given Friday night.

In the second round of the Tennis Tournament which was held Saturday Durham of Holdenville defeated Mallory 6-0; 6-2. In the third round Durham defeated E. Fentem 6-4; 4-6; 6-4. Durham will thus be in the final contest which will be staged this afternoon.

Senator Luther Harrison will speak at the chapel hour Wednesday morning on "The Historical Background of Shakespeare's Historical Plays." Senator Harrison is one of the leading Shakespearean scholars in Oklahoma and the Normal is proud to have him lecture on this subject. All citizens of Ada who are interested in literature are cordially invited to be present to hear Senator Harrison's address. The hour is 8:30 a. m.

Miss Keller is preparing to give a musical program at the Normal Friday night. The program will be a choral interpretation of the war with connected text by Walt Whitman, and it will be in honor of the East Central men who gave their lives and served in the war. The program will be given outside the building at the north end of the auditorium. The program will commence promptly at 8:30 o'clock.

The Coal county teachers enjoyed the picnic at the lake Saturday night. The night was ideal with the silvery moonbeams stealing through the trees, and the teachers were glad to take the walk to the lake and take part in the outing. Lunch was served at the lake. Miss Elizabeth Cusenberry is sponsor for the Coal county organization and to her is due in great part the success of the evening. There are forty-seven members in the Coal county delegation attending the summer Normal.

Wonder what babies think of us when we jabber goo-goo baby talk to them? They must think we are a lot of mutts.

One would think the way the girls wear their hair over their ears that they could not hear, but you just ask them about ice cream.

At Ada Playhouses

At the American.

The American Theater is showing a most attractive program with a very number being headed by a popular star. For tonight delightful Ruth Roland is shown in "The Tiger's Trail" and a Harold Lloyd Comedy which is full of fun with two Big V. Comedies. Manager McSwain is giving the patrons of the American the advantage of the very best films to be bought and the theater is always pleasant.

At the Liberty.

Tonight at the Liberty the Triangle Film Corporation presents Hazel Daly in "The Little Rowdy." This is a romantic story and from the very beginning holds the attention of the visitors, as it is a scenario of thrills from the time the curtain rises. For Tuesday all are looking forward to "Full of Pep" by Hale Hamilton.

NAZIMOVA SURPASSES PREVIOUS TRIUMPHS

In "Toys of Fate," starring the great Nazimova, which will be shown at the American theatre Thursday, the wonderful Russian star, has been declared to have surpassed her marvelous work in her previous Screen Classics, Inc., super-picture, "Revelation." As a gypsy princess, Nazimova brings all the histrionic talent which has made her famous into effective play.

The secret of the Mexican and South American revolutions is graft. They all want to loot.

SHADES OF CAESAR! LOOK WHO'S IN TROUBLE

The News reporter was astounded this morning when the mayor replied to his quest for news by handing him the list of the citizens of Ada who have not responded to the notice of the officers by remitting the customary $4.00.

The reporter asked the mayor if the list was for publication and got the reply that it most certainly was. The mayor laughingly remarked that they had done everything they could in a peaceable way to get the street taxes paid and had been quite successful, but that about 150 men had not yet paid and they had issued warrants for their immediate arrest.

The only men excused from paying the street tax are men who are above sixty years old, men who have served in the army and men who are physically unable to work. A few of the names on the list for which warrants have been issued is given below. More will follow tomorrow.

The city jail will probably not hold the prominent citizens of Ada who are soon to be placed there if the city officers carry out their determination to arrest all those who have not paid their street tax for this year.

AMERICAN OIL AND REFIN. CO. DRILLING MORE GAS WELLS

W. B. Skirvin, president of the American Oil and Refining company, was in the city today. He says that his company is now drilling one well north of town and will drill several others before fall. It is not the intention of the company to search for oil, but simply to keep up the gas production to the point where there will be a plentiful supply for the citizens of Ada. Just how many wells will be necessary to overcome the drop in production in the others, Mr. Skirvin says he does not know.

What's the use of digging a hole and clambering down into it when it is just as easy to climb upward?

Let a Want Ad sell it for you.

Let a Want Ad sell it for you.

J. B. Gilstrap and family made a business trip to New Wilson today.

Roy Stegall was among the Ada-visitors in Sulphur over Saturday night.

The Teacher's Training class of Christian church will meet this evening at the church, 7:30 o'clock.

Mrs. Della Threlkeld of Konawa, Ark., arrived today as the guest of Mrs. C. W. Hardage and family.

Mrs. W. F. Gabbert returned to her home in Nocona, Tex., today after a visit with relatives and friends here and in Stratford.

Ottie Lindsay and Virgil Aulds went to Sulphur this afternoon to reclaim from the hospital the car which they drove to Sulphur on the eventful day of the fourth.

Mr. and Mrs. X. R. Campbell Jr., of Hugo, passed through the city this morning en route to New York where they go to meet Lieut. X. R. Campbell Sr., who has just returned from overseas.

Thurman K. Treadwell arrived in the city yesterday with his discharge. He saw several months service overseas, but has seen all of the service he wants and is glad to be back home.

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Allen received a message yesterday from their son Edgar, stating that he had landed safely in Hoboken, New Jersey. He says he is safe and well and expects to be home soon.

Mrs. Mary M. Love and daughters, Misses Kathryn and Inez, of Sulphur, who have been visiting friends and relatives in McAlester, arrived today for a visit with Mrs. J. O. Abney and family, 526 East 14th.

W. T. Shelton returned yesterday from Portales, N. M., where he has been for the past two weeks in the interests of the N-Mex Oil Company. Mr. Shelton is very enthusiastic over the outlook for an enormous oil development at that place.

Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Stuart, Miss Delena Melton, Mrs. Arrington and daughter, Allie, of Centrahoma motored over Sunday and spent the day with Mr. and Mrs. John Agnew and while in the city attended one service of the Ham-Ramsay meeting.

Capt. J. C. Cates leaves tomorrow for Lookout Mountain, Chattanooga, Tenn., to spend the remainder of the summer. The captain thinks the time has come for him to take things easy, and he is going for a good, long rest. While gone he will visit a sister in this locality.

D. O. Cathey, who has been in the United States Marine service for over three years, the last two of which have been spent overseas, in the hard fought battles of the war, is here on a thirty days furlough to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Cathey and sister, Mrs. T. E. Graham and family.

Mrs. Ida Binding left this morning for Enid, Okla., where she will be engaged in the millinery business. Mrs. Binding states that she has done an exceptionally good business during her stay in Ada, and regrets to leave her many friends here, who wish her the best of success in her business at Enid.

The Woodmen of the World at Frisco held an ice cream social at the home of Mr. Hayes in that community Saturday night. Cake and cream were served and several talks on Woodcraft were made, among the speakers being W. C. Williams of Ada, and R. C. Roland. Mr. Roland gave a very interesting talk which was enjoyed by the large crowd present.

Mr. Sam Tyler of Indiana, was called back to his home Saturday. Mr. Tyler came to Ada several weeks ago as a sheet metal worker for the construction of the new cement plant of this place. He has made many friends during his stay here who regret to see him leave, especially the workmen of his crew and all will welcome him back at any time.

H. F. Mathis, L. E. Franklin and Mr. Howard were among the Ada Woodmen to go out to Lightning Ridge yesterday to attend the unveiling ceremonies to Sovereign Tom Sissell, Sam and Ben Tipton. They report one of the most inspiring days they have seen. The speaker of the day was Mr. Mathis, who delivered an address on Woodcraft. A large crowd was present.

Paul V. Norrell, who works for the Star-Democrat, came near losing his life this morning when he made the mistake of drinking oil intended for external use believing it to be oil to use internally. The oil was made by the same concern and goes under the same name, but he got hold of the wrong oil. After taking the oil Mr. Norrell became seriously sick and realized his mistake. A doctor was called who gave him medicine to ease his pain and he was soon out of danger.

A team of horses belonging to W. J. B. McAnally ran away this morning with the wagon to which they were hitched. They started in the alley back of Evans, Woodward & Co., and ran to the Sledge lumber yard on North Rennie. So fast were they going at the lumber yard that the tongue of the wagon became loose and went four feet into the street, the end of the tongue being 19 inches below the surface of the earth. The tongue had to be dug out. The harness were pretty badly broken up but that was all the damage done.

McKEOWN WILL BE ASKED TO GIVE US CHAUNCEY

Citizens and business men are preparing to ask Congressman Tom D. McKeown to make arrangements, if he can, to secure Charley Chauncey, of this city but now in the aerial service of the government, for a three day flight program in this city. The occasion on which Mr. Chauncey will be invited to Ada will be that of the state Confederate reunion to be held in this city August 27, 28 and 29.

W. L. Reed's Mother Ill.
W. L. Reed received word yesterday that his mother, who lives near Clarksville, Tex., was in a dying condition. The word came at an hour when no train could be had, so he was taken to Connersville by B. H. Epperson, in his auto, there they proceeded to Sherman, Tex., by automobile, where they should have caught a train that would have put them at the bedside of Mr. Reed's mother last evening near nine o'clock.

Postmaster on Vacation.
J. W. Westbrook left this morning for Dallas, Fort Worth, Austin, and other points in Texas on a vacation of two weeks. This is the postmaster's regular annual vacation and he is going to make the most of it. He is making the trip by automobile and is accompanied by his wife and son Max. While in Austin he will visit a married daughter, whom he has not seen for several years.

VETERANS WILL TRY TO GET AVIATOR

The Wm. L. Byrd camp of Confederate veterans met in called session at the city hall yesterday to take up further the coming state convention to be held at Ada, August 27, 28 and 29.

The most important work done at yesterday's meeting was to pass resolution asking Congressman McKeown to use his influence to get the war department to permit Charley Chauncey to come to Ada during the reunion and make flights in his airship each day. The resolution will be forwarded to the congressman at once.

MARSE HENRY CAUSED WOE

GREAT EDITOR'S CHIROGRAPHY
LOOKED LIKE HIEROGLYPHICS ON THE WALLS OF ANCIENT NINEVEH—SOME AMUS-
ING MISTAKES.

From the Arkansas Gazette.

Some weeks ago the Louisville Courier-Journal issued a "Marse Henry Edition" to commemorate the seventy-ninth birthday of its former editor, Col. Henry Watterson. The issue, which was intended as a surprise for "Marse Henry," was filled with tributes from public men and fellow editors throughout the country.

Recently the Lines O' Type News issued another "Marse Henry Edition of the Courier-Journal." It was an abbreviated "edition," and was purported to have been composed, edited and printed by the Disciples of Gutenberg and Mergenthaler of the Louisville Times and the Courier-Journal. After explaining that the contributions to the "edition" were written purely in a personal way and not signed by the authors "to avoid the possibility of a libel suit," the editors led off with the following tribute:

To Mr. and Mrs. Watterson. What can we, your Boys of the Composing Room, say or do on this auspicious occasion that will add to your pleasure, that will express our joy in your happiness? We may be good "composers," but we lay no claim to being writers. So—our hearts today throb with yours, our minds recall only pleasant things, our tongue and pens record plain, pleasing words. God bless you and keep you for many years to come! So say we all—every one!

To you, Mr. Watterson—Marse Henry!—Grand Old Man!—The Big Boss!—we extend greetings. We love you! We have struggled with your execrable copy these many years, doing our best to decipher the hieroglyphics, yet knowing all the time it did not make much difference whether we got it right or wrong, as you were almost certain to rewrite the "brains" after you received your revise proof—which is the privilege of the truly great only.

We have cussed your manuscript in all candor and all cuss words when "stumped" on possibly the last word or two of a piece of copy, seeing out of the corner of our eye a "phantom" hanging on top of the "hook" waiting for us to come and pluck it. But we didn't mean it, honest! We have seen you rush into the composing room in a devil of a hurry to get a proof corrected, then leisurely walk over to where "Big Frank" was making up the last page of a rush extra, put your arms around his shoulders, and offer to fight him Queensberry rules or "jeff" him for a glass of coca-cola. And we have "speeded up" on that proof for your sake, and envied "Big Frank" the affection you bestowed on him.

His One Real Rival.

Do you blame any printer for mistakes in handling copy written in Chinese hieroglyphics? Shame on you, Marse Henry! As an instance, along in the '80s in an editorial written by the same genius descriptive of a disastrous fire that swept one of the western states, the expression "forty miles of conflagration" was set up by the "intelligent" compositor as "forty mules from California."

However, there is some consolation, Marse Henry, in the fact that Horace Greeley's copy was, in some respects, a counterpart of your own. There was a printer on the New York Tribune in the '50s who could read Mr. Greeley's manuscript as he could read print. Finally he became addicted to the use of alcohol to such an extent that he was discharged. In those days in the printing trade one had to have a recommendation from his last employer to obtain a position on any other paper. He applied to Mr. Greeley for one, which was readily given. In substance, it read about as follows: "To whom it may concern: The bearer of this is a common drunkard and unworthy the respect of his craft; unreliable; in fact, an all-round bum." The printer presented this to the foreman of the New York Herald. After an effort to read it, he asked what it was and was told it was a recommendation from Mr. Greeley. "Then," said the foreman, "you may go to work. If Mr. Greeley recommends you, I know you are all right."

Those Hand Compositors.

In the halcyon days of hand set type a "hobo" printer "caught on" on the Courier-Journal and achieved fame by translating Marse Henry's "from Alpha to Omega" into "from Alton to Omaha"—and started for the latter place the next morning.

I wish to say that in over fifty years in newspaper offices and thirty of them in your employ, you are the only editor I know that don't occasionally like to rip and snort and raise Old Ned generally around the composing room. You have had cause, for God only knows what printers and proofreaders have done to you. You don't seem to have time to kick. It is your recognition of the utter uselessness of kicking that has brought you to such a ripe old age of youngness.

Easy Reading.

Several years back I had a piece of Mr. Watterson's manuscript, and was stuck on a proper name. As Mr. Watterson was coming through the composing room, I thought I would ask him what it was. To my great surprise he said: "Get a newspaper; you can find it in there." So I went on and chopped away at the copy. Another time I got stalled on a word, and I went in to see Mr. Watterson. I asked him what it was. He said the thought had left him at the time, but would come after a while. So I went out, and that was the last time I ever bothered Mr. Watterson.

In forty-three years' service on the Courier-Journal and Times an old timer has seen some very queer and amusing errors made in putting Mr. Watterson's manuscript in type. On one occasion he had written "Pall Mall dandy," but when the proofreader got the proof the printer had made it say "sawmill dandy."

Some Fiddler.

Many years ago, in the old hand set days, a wandering typo "caught on" for a night's work, and in his run of copy was a take of Marse Henry's editorial.

After big eyeing it from all angles he said: "Well, I can't read it and I can't set it, but if I had my fiddle here I bet I could play the darn thing."

Either End Up.

When Bob Speed "showed up" for work on the Courier-Journal the boys began to talk. They talked a plenty, for that matter, all the time, but on this occasion they talked more. For there were some "fast" men on the Courier-Journal, and Bob Speed was a fast man himself. He said so.

He could set type with a handkerchief spread over the keyboard, and manuscript, tabular matter, and reprint all looked alike to him. Nay, more; he had broken the record in several towns where it is said to be hard to print because of careless preparation of "copy."

"Where's that editorial?" the foreman demanded of the bank man late that night. "Hurry up with that galley."

"There's a 'take out,' the bank man explained, and together the foreman, galley boy and bank man made the rounds of the machines. The light was turned out on No.

30, where Bob Speed had been working. That artist had put on his coat, and was sitting in a dark corner, staring at the floor and muttering strange words.

"What the devil does this mean?" the foreman screamed.

Speed, "the prodigy," raised not his head, nor said one word in reply.

The foreman rushed to the machine, turned on the light, and looked at the copy.

"Good Lord!" the galley boy exclaimed. "No wonder the swift went crazy. It was Marse Henry's copy, and the boob had the manuscript stuck on his copy board upside down!"

"Hub," said the bank man, "I don't see what difference that should make."

Bootleggers In Iowa Have Unique Plan of Operation

DES MOINES, Ia., July 14.—Locating the hidden liquor supplies of Iowa bootleggers is like looking for the needle in the haystack, if some of the hiding places recently unearthed around the state by officials may be taken as a criterion of the average illicit liquor dealer's ingenuity in secreting his forbidden source of income.

At the same time, however, it might be added, Iowa sleuths would have a fair chance of finding the proverbial needle, for so all-embracing are their methods of search that in some cases they have practically torn down houses, dug up yards and even trespassed on the forbidden premises of a woman's wardrobe in their efforts to locate hidden liquor.

Reports made by authorities in various Iowa cities reveal some unique hiding places for John Barleycorn's product. One detective recently visited a house said to be headquarters for bootleggers, but a search for several hours failed to reveal anything incriminating evidence until he accidentally stumbled over a corset lying on the floor. The well known clink of glass against glass excited his curiosity and it was found that the corset concealed two bottles of whiskey. Further search revealed that the woman living in the house, who said she was sick, had a large number of bottles of liquor in bed with her and that her wardrobe concealed ample supplies.

Search of another house also proved unavailing until one detective noticed that a broken window had been boarded up on both the outside and inside. Pulling down the inside boards, the detective found that the compartment formed by the two sets of boarding concealed nearly a hundred bottles of whiskey. Further demolition of the window sill showed that all four walls of the room concealed compartments filled with bottles of whiskey, wine and beer—the latter not of the 2.75 per cent variety. The house virtually was torn to pieces before the search ended.

Another hiding place literally was "unearthed" when a dog digging in a backyard found his way obstructed by a bottle of "red-eye" as the bootleggers term cheap whiskey. Detectives who happened to be searching the place at the time dug further and found a large supply of liquor had been buried.

Among other hiding places were hay stacks, rubbish heaps, old wells and caves, hollow trees and even mattresses.

SHERIFF OF CLEVELAND COUNTY IS OUSTED

J. B. Wheelis, sheriff of Cleveland County, handed his resignation to the board of county commissioners on Monday afternoon of this week, and Will H. Newblock of Norman, was appointed to fill out the unexpired term. Mr. Wheelis was serving his second term as sheriff, and it is unfortunate to himself and the county that he was forced to resign under fire because of failure to perform his duty. An extract from the Norman Transcript says:

"For sometime there has been dissatisfaction among the best citizens of Norman and Cleveland county regarding the manner in which the laws—especially the prohibitory law—was being enforced; or rather its non-enforcement. Bootleggers have been numerous, rampant and defiant. The Attorney General's office in Oklahoma City was appealed to and, it is said, has had a detective in the county for sometime investigating conditions. His report was such that a committee of business men met with Mr. Wheelis this morning and put it up to him whether he would resign or face ouster proceedings—and he elected to resign.—Purcell Register.

Will Be 50 Cents a Month

Beginning August 1, 1919, the subscription price of The Ada Evening News will be.

15c a week by carrier or mail---50c a month by carrier or mail, paid in advance---$5 a year by carrier or mail, paid in advance

This raise in the subscription price is necessary in order that we may meet the additional cost of issuing a larger and more inclusive newspaper. The readers now get as much news as the readers of daily papers in towns of 30,000 and 40,000 population. It costs a great deal more to produce a paper of this size and quality, and we believe the citizens of this town are willing to pay for such a newspaper.

Increased Cost of Labor

All of us thought prices would go down, once the war had stopped. Prices, however, have gone higher, necessitating higher wages, which mean a higher producing cost of newspapers. The News pays good wages, because it believes in getting good men and doing good work.

No Choice in the Matter

Since the beginning of the war, almost every daily newspaper in the United States has raised the subscription price. We have kept the price of the News the same as it was years ago, for the reason that we did not want to appear to be profiteering. The time has come when we have no choice. We must raise the price. But before raising the price, we have endeavored to make the paper better as we have made it larger.

A glance at the prices below will show what other newspapers in the same class with the Ada Evening News are getting for subscriptions—

Name of Paper—	Month	Year
The Ardmoreite	.60	$6.00
The Ponca City News	.60	$5.00
Miami Daily News	.45	$5.00
McAlester News-Capital	.60	$5.00
Okmulgee Daily Democrat	.65	$7.50

A comparison of the subscription rates of the Ada Evening News with the rates of other newspapers shows that the News rates are still low. During the remainder of July, subscribers will be permitted to pay up for as long a time as they desire at the old rates of 40 cents a month, or $4.00 a year. This is an opportunity for you to save money.

FIRE FESTIVAL IS FEATURE OF PLAY

A fire festival is among the effective and picturesque gypsy rites reproduced in "Toys of Fate," the Screen Classics, Inc., photo-drama starring the great Nazimova, which comes to the American theatre Thursday. More than a hundred gypsies were used in these scenes. The gypsy maidens throw roses high in the air and their sweethearts leap to grasp the flowers, each taking care to secure the rose thrown by his adored one. Then, by the altar of love, the girls jump across a bank of fire into the arms of the men who have caught the flowers.

MASS MEETING BRINGS CROWD

and he has shown himself to be corrupt.

"I don't think it would require a great amount of force; I believe if you turn the 80,000 soldiers loose from this state and give them a chance, I don't think they would need much help down there.

"Now that the government has the big show off its hands, it looks like we ought to be able to pay a little attention to the side shows.

"They committed a crime just like this a few years ago over here in Pottawatomie county, and I remember that the people took the murderers out and burned them."

Neither did Luther Harrison, state senator, editor of the Ada Star-Democrat and an orator of interstate reputation, want any war. All he wanted was that the conglomeration of bandit gangs which has been making life intolerable south of the Rio Grande should be wiped out, law and order restored and Mexicans as well as foreigners given what they never have had, the right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. He explained that international law and treaty stipulations gave Americans a legal and moral right to live and be protected in Mexico, that great statesman William Jennings Bryan to the contrary notwithstanding. He won the enthusiastic approval of the audience when he said:

Mr. Harrison Said:

"At the present time many people will say we have no right to go to Mexico, and that if we stay out of that country we will have no trouble with that country, and when that assertion is made it proves only one thing, that the one who makes the assertion knows nothing of what the law of nations is, and knows nothing of what the treaties and stipulations are.

"The citizens of every country on earth have a right under international law to go into every other country on earth, unless that country has provided by statute that they shall not enter it.

"Every people have a right to come to the United States if they comply with the laws of the United States, except those prohibited by treaty provisions, or by the laws enacted by the Congress of the United States, according to the same law and according to the treaties which Mexico has entered into with the United States, according to the treaties which she has signed and which our country has signed.

"Every American or any American who has legitimate business in Old Mexico has a right to go there, settle there if he chooses and remain there unmolested as long as he pleases. Under the same law and under the same treaty it became the imperative duty of the government of Mexico to protect every American citizen who may be sojourning or visiting for the time being in that country; and the law goes further and provides that if the Mexican government fails to protect an American citizen, or permit them to suffer any indignity or insult, then it becomes the right and duty of the American government with every power it possesses to force the Nation of Mexico to afford that protection, and hereafter when you hear one say that our people have no right in that country and that if they would stay out of there there would be no trouble, you can tell him if you choose that he is absolutely ignorant of the simplest rudiments of international law and the treaties entered into between these countries.

"Personally I never saw John Correll or a member of his family. I do not know them, and it is immaterial that I do not and never did. I know this, they were American citizens, and if this nation deserves the respect of the people who live beneath its flag, and if it deserves the respect of the boys who bled beneath that flag, it must prove to the world that however remote from our borders an American can go he will be under the protection of this government. It does not deserve the respect of its citizens, if it does not stand ready and willing at every moment to protect every American beneath the sun!"

Mr. Harrison then offered the following resolutions which were adopted with only one dissenting vote, the same being cast by L. R. Clark, said to be a newspaper man from Francis.

Resolutions.

WHEREAS: On the 16th day of June, 1919, Mrs. John Correll of Ada, Pontotoc County, Oklahoma, was wantonly ravished by Mexican bandits or soldiers near the city of Tampico, State of Tamaulipas, in the Republic of Mexico, her husband murdered before her eyes, her young son shot at and driven into jungles, and her property seized by robbers; and

WHEREAS: Mrs. Correll and her family were in Mexico as American citizens, having gone to Mexico as American citizens, and were there in accordance with international law and the stipulations of treaties existing between Mexico and the United States; and

WHEREAS: The Republic of Mexico is bound by the laws of nations and her own treaty obligations to protect the life and property of every American who may be in the Republic for any lawful purpose; and

WHEREAS: The Government of Mexico did not protect Mrs. Correll, her family or her property, but did permit citizens of the republic to brutally assault an aged and helpless woman, murder her husband, attack her son, and seize her property, all in violation of the law of the republic, and in violation of international laws and treaty requirements, and has refused to make any effort to apprehend the ravishers and murderers who committed the crime; Therefore be it

RESOLVED by the citizens of ADA and Pontotoc County, Oklahoma, in mass meeting assembled:

WE DEMAND that the government of the United States exact from the government of the Republic of Mexico full reparation for the outrage committed on Mrs. Correll and require the Mexican government to indemnify her, in so far as it is possible for money to recompense a woman for such a dastardly wrong.

WE DEMAND that the murderers of her husband be apprehended and given the extreme penalty of the laws of Mexico, and that Mrs. Correll be fully compensated for any and all properties taken from her or her family by the Mexican bandits or soldiers.

WE DEMAND That the government of the United States use every power that it possesses to force the Mexican government to bring the guilty parties to justice and repay Mrs. Correll to the fullest for the outrage and wrong she has suffered.

We would remind the authorities of our nation that this family were American citizens, and as such were entitled to every protection that our government can possible give or exact. As citizens of Pontotoc County we are exceedingly proud that in the recent war for world freedom our county discharged every duty with alacrity and enthusiasm. Our boys died on the battlefields of Europe to vitalize our traditions, preserve our institutions, and maintain the honor of our flag. We have been proud to believe that the flag our boys died to hold in the heavens is amply wide to protect every citizen of this republic, however poor and weak that citizen might be.

Our respect for the flag and the nation is largely based on our belief in the power of the government to protect its citizens, and lest our respect should be shaken and our faith should fail we demand that our government exact from the government of Mexico the very fullest protection for the lives and property of all Americans who may in the course of business be called to that country. We demand that the same government that called our sons to the red blink of battle use every ounce of its mighty power that may be necessary to secure adequate reparation for Mrs. Correll.

RESOLVED Further: That a copy of this resolution be sent to our President, Woodrow Wilson, our Secretary of State, Robert Lansing, to each of the senators and representatives from Oklahoma in the National Congress, and to the chairman of the Committee on Foreign Relations of the United States Senate and of the National House of Representatives.

Marvin Brown, editor of the Ada Evening News presided at the meeting.

HENRY STARR MAKING "MOVIE" OF HIS CAREER

McALESTER, Okla., July 14.—Henry Starr, former bank robber and reputed "bad man," will start work on a moving picture of his life within a few weeks, he announced Thursday while in McAlester on a business matter.

Starr was released from the penitentiary here several months ago after serving 42 months of a 25-year term for participation in the robbery of a bank at Stroud, Okla. In attempting to escape from a Stroud posse, Starr was shot in the hip by a youth in his teens.

The Pan-American Motion Picture corporation has been formed at Tulsa, Starr's home, with R. J. Clark, who has had experience in moving picture work, as president. The first picture that will be made by the corporation will be the story of Starr's life from the time of his boyhood at Fort Gibson until his release from the prison here. This picture will be followed by western plays.

According to Starr, the scenes of his life will be taken where they actually occurred. The actors will go to California, Colorado, Arkansas and various places in Oklahoma for this purpose. The actors will be as far as possible the real characters met by Starr during his life.

Son to "Sub" for Him.

In the pictures of his youth, his son, Ted Starr, 15, will act the part of his father, in the scenes at Fort Gibson. The scenario of the entire picture has been completed after more than a month's hard work on it.

Pictures will be "shot" at Tulsa, Stroud, Muskogee, Nowata, in the Kiamitia mountains, McAlester and other places. The scenes to be taken here will show Starr coming down the steps of the main entrance to the prison, meeting his son with his pardon in his hand.

Starr was here Thursday to see Claud Sawyer, who was associated with him in the Stroud robbery and received a sentence of 5 years, to ask him to take part in the photography. He will return to Tulsa Thursday night. Sawyer lives on a ranch west of the city.

The Odd Fellows at Francis held a celebration Saturday night. Ice cream and cake were served as refreshments and a good time was reported. The speaker of the occasion was Judge Arden L. Bullock.

SUNDAY BIG DAY AT TABERNACLE

tice of studying the Bible is surpassed at the happenings of the past few years. Every prophecy has come to pass—absolutely every one."

"It's hard to make people believe you Christians are sincere when you neglect your church duties on Sunday and stand on the baseball diamond and yell like maniacs."

"How would some of you old hypocrites feel if Christ were to come Sunday and find you out at the ball park yelling and howling like a bunch of wild barbarians."

"You had better not have this revival than to fail to show the world that you have the power to cast out devils. The burden of the job is on the heads of you professed Christians."

"If the church had been what God intended that it should be there would have been no war, bloodshed and carnage, with millions of souls sent to hell from the blood red fields of battle in Europe."

SIDE LIGHTS ON THE REVIVAL

J. W. DeWitt, of Idabel, and sheriff of McCurtain county, was among the visitors on the rostrum last evening.

Rev. Ham absolutely exploded the nebular hypothesis in his sermon last evening on infidelity. That is, he did it to the satisfaction of any sane man or woman who wants to see the light.

Preachers need rest just the same as we work steers. In view of this fact there was no meeting this morning nor will there be any this evening. In fact there will be no services on Mondays.

At the service Saturday night Evangelist Ham made a specialty of sectarian littleness. He said, in substance, that the average little bigoted church paper was a pure waste of good white paper and printer's ink. And that's so.

"Mr. Ramsay, the singer—the best one we ever have seen in a revival campaign—enlivened the audience last evening by having the people whistle No. 10, "Talk it Over With Jesus."

Many people were visibly pleased last evening when Mr. Ramsay established the custom of having the ladies remove their hats and the gentlemen their coats during the service. Comfort is indeed conducive to close attention and good behavior.

The evangelist is not ill-tempered, and he is not different from any other public speaker. No speaker can do his audience justice when there is confusion and noise in the congregation. No speaker can do his best when the people are not listening.

Many people from Roff, Stonewall, Fitzhugh and other surrounding villages were present at the big revival service Sunday night. Within another week it is predicted that they will be coming from miles around, camping and remaining throughout the series of meetings.

A woman on the front row Saturday night had a crying baby. The evangelist extended her three invitations to take the youngster to the rear but she failed to respond to the invitation. It later developed that the woman was deaf. Such things as this at such close range are disconcerting to the speaker and very often spoil what would otherwise be a good sermon.

The evangelist last evening used Myers' General History to show the absolute fulfillment of many of the prophecies of the Bible. He quoted the Bible and then read from the history showing the fulfillment of the scriptures to the letter hundreds and thousands of years after the matters in question had been prophesied by Biblical authors. A pretty hard jolt for the unbeliever, this.

Deputy Sheriff Bud Perry brought in three boys yesterday and they were charged with assault and battery. The boys were J. M. Bond, E. Bond and A. M. Scott. It is said the three had a free-for-all fight at Mrs. Scott's home east of the city. They were somewhat bruised when they appeared at the office of the justice of the peace.

MRS. CORRELL AND SON LEAVE FOR WASHINGTON

Mrs. John W. Correll and her son Joe, widow and son respectively of John W. Correll who was murdered by Mexican bandits near Tampico on June 16th, left today on the Frisco for Washington, D. C., where they purpose to appear before the state department and ask the federal authorities for an investigation of the outrage and for a redress of their grievances by the government of Mexico.

At the big mass meeting of citizens of Ada and Pontotoc county, held at the tabernacle auditorium yesterday afternoon to protest against the outrage, sat Mrs. Correll and her son, and several of her nearby relatives. As the speakers of the occasion referred to the terrible ordeal through which she has so recently passed, tears could be seen streaming down her face through the black mourning veil which she wore, indicative of the great loss which she sustained when her husband was so foully murdered.

The meeting of yesterday seems to have encouraged the broken hearted wife and mother, and she is now more hopeful than ever that she will get the recognition she deserves at the hands of the state department.

The people of this city and community will await with interest the results of her mission to the nation's capital.

Next to ordering his Ice and putting up his screens, a man's first duty is to see that his light-weight clothes are laid out and ready for quick entrance when the heat rings the bell to start proceedings.

Take example from the man who waited to order his full supply of coal last winter and don't keep putting the Summer clothes question off and off until there's a line up and a waiting list to wade thru.

NOW is the time for action and you'll commence to think so in the next few days. Don't wait and see.
